

Britons in Miami

Arriving in Miami on a happy afternoon, Kathryn, Ruth and Sasha explore summer life in Miami, where they meet Floridians for the first time and hopefully create a British community for the next generation. While they live in a five-star hotel for one month, Ruth and Sasha meet the oldest rapper, who just finished his concert performance at the American Airlines Arena, while Kathryn meets the mother of this oldest rapper at a convenience store. At the Miami Book Fair, Kathryn, Ruth and Sasha stare at the best-selling book written by the oldest rapper, and they show interest in the book summary. As the weeks progress, Ruth decides to purchase a house in South Miami near the University of Miami. When Ruth agrees to let Kathryn and Sasha live in the house, they decide to host a house party to celebrate Ruth's 30th birthday. Suddenly, Sasha plans to return to London for her wedding anniversary leaving Kathryn and Ruth with more living expenses for the house. After six months, Sasha returns to Miami to be with Kathryn and Ruth faithfully. Feeling encouraged by her return, Kathryn and Ruth surprise Sasha with a birthday cake at a nearby restaurant joyfully.
